Our Sanctuary Redecoration Project: Don't forget to donate!

Just a reminder that we have many opportunities to donate toward our sanctuary redecoration. We already have received donations for the tabernacle, the Last Supper scene and the adoring angels for the new high altar, as well as a number of general donations for the overall project. If you have not yet made a donation, please consider doing so, in order that we can plan to go forward with phase 2 of our renovation, the painting of the sanctuary, after the altar is finished. You may donate by check or online at a link on our website, www.OlmcKenosha.org. All donations are tax deductible. Any questions, call the rectory at 652-7660.

Welcome him into eternal life...

Father Campbell, Father McDermott, and the Parish community of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel wish to extend our deepest sympathy to the family of Carl Greco.

O, Lord, comfort them in their time of sorrow and grief.

Eternal rest grant unto him, and let perpetual light shine upon him.

May he rest in the peace of Christ.

How the Oligarchs got their Power

E. Michael Jones

Indiana, it turns out, was a harbinger of things to come. One year after the legislature of the state of Indiana passed its Religious Freedom Restoration Act, Georgia followed suit with House Bill 757, which gave legal protection to those who felt that participating in a gay wedding would violate their conscience. The temerity of the Georgia legislators, who felt that they had a duty to represent the people who elected them to office, provoked the same outburst of rage that RFRA had provoked in Indiana one year earlier.

The same pressure was being applied to the legislators of the state of North Carolina for the same reason, and by the same people, including Salesforce CEO Marc Benioff, who had parachuted into Indianapolis a year ago to intimidate the lawmakers there with threats of economic reprisal if they didn't go along with the out-of-state oligarchs and their homosexual agenda. According to the kept press:

Pressure from corporations has worked before in other states, and the letter made the same arguments that discrimination is bad for business. Most of the signatories led companies that aren't headquartered in North Carolina, but it's a high-profile list, including the heads of Apple, Facebook, Airbnb, Yahoo, Twitter, Salesforce, Marriott, Pfizer, and Levi Strauss. Bank of America, the largest corporation in the state by revenue, was left out of the original letter, but announced later on Tuesday that it had signed the letter. On Wednesday, American Airlines, Cisco, Miramax, Uber, Google Ventures, and Braeburn Pharmaceuticals added their names to the letter.

In North Carolina, unlike Indiana, the lawmakers stood up to the out-of-state oligarchs and passed their bill complete with the signature of Governor Pat McCrory. The rage of the oligarchs could be read between the lines in the tendentious account of the affair which appeared in the kept press:

Last Wednesday, North Carolina state lawmakers rushed through a sweeping anti-gay and anti-transgender law that eliminates all local L.G.B.T. anti-discrimination measures and specifically blocks transgender individuals from using public bathrooms that correspond to their gender identity. Governor Pat McCrory, a Republican up for reelection, signed it the very same day.

The same cabal of CEOs and homosexuals descended on Athens, Georgia bristling with threats of economic reprisal. At some indication that the same forces were at work on the same agenda, Salesforce CEO Marc Benioff showed up in Athens one year after he had shown up in Indianapolis with the same set of demands and the same set of supporting characters. The CEOs of Coca-Cola, Time/Warner, Disney, and 400 other big companies had arrived on the scene to inform the solons of the state of Georgia that it was they—the cabal of CEOs and homosexuals which we will refer to as the Oligarchs—who had the final say about what laws were going to be passed in the state of Georgia. When the National Football league joined the fray and threatened to eliminate the new multi-billion Atlanta Falcons stadium from consideration as a future venue for the Superbowl, Governor Nathan Deal cracked under the pressure and vetoed his own legislature's bill, showing once again that state legislatures finished a distant second to CEOs and homosexuals when it came to wielding political power in the provinces.

For once, state legislators had something to say in response to this usurpation of their power. State Senator Mike Crane called for the upper chamber of the Georgia legislature to override Deal's veto because it was "another example of how the political class is bought and paid for by corporations and lobbyists. Rather than standing up and protecting the 1st Amendment, the political class would rather sacrifice those rights to keep the money flowing."

The situation was much worse than State Senator Mike Crane claimed. To see this incident as an attack on the First Amendment is to trivialize the magnitude of what took place. What Crane witnessed was an attack on the idea of representative government. The legislatures of conquered provinces like Indiana and Georgia were under an oligarchic assault whose purpose involved the re-engineering of state government, to take it out of the hands of the people and to put it into the hands of docile servants of the oligarchs. State legislatures were being trained to their new role, which was going to be ceremonial and largely symbolic, not unlike the role which the Queen of England now plays vis a vis the British Parliament. Cowed by the power of the oligarchs, legislatures across the country were transforming themselves from bodies which represented the will of the people of their respective states into servants of the empire. By vetoing the will of his own legislature, Governor Deal had turned himself into a pro-consul who served at the pleasure of the oligarchs, not the people of the state of Georgia.

Chicago Trip Together Mt. Carmel and St James are hosting a pilgrimage to the beautiful St. Stanislaus Kostka and St. John Cantius Churches in Chicago, IL, on Friday, Sept. 16, 2016. St. Stanislaus Kostka is a pilgrimage site during this year of Mercy and as such their doors are Holy Doors. Those who enter the Sanctuary may gain a plenary indulgence. Both parishioners and non-parishioners are invited to join us. Registration fee per person is $35, which covers the bus, bus driver gratuity, snacks and donations for the church tours. A second bus has been added due to demand. For more information, please call or Claudia Presta at 262-914-0672 or Mary Wanta at 262-654-0064.

Festival Corner

This year Mt. Carmel will be celebrating our 69th Annual Festival, something our parish family is very proud of. The dates this year are July 8-9-10. Along with our traditional religious procession on Sunday we will have our great Homemade Pasta Dinner on Friday and Saturday evening.

We are still accepting sponsors for this year's Festival. All sponsorships are greatly appreciated and go directly to help offset Festival expenses. Contact Tom Rizzo at any time with your sponsorships. Also much help is needed to both set up and take down the Festival on Thursday, July 7th and Monday, July 11th. Report both days at 8:30 am. Lunch will be served both days for the workers. Again, you can call Tom at 595-0525 or email him at: tar1603@hotmail.com.

Please pick your Festival Main Raffle tickets and take a Yard Sign in the back of church. We now have Festival posters available in the back of church. Please take one or more to hang in various businesses around town.
